DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 4-19, 21-40 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 2/19/2008
2. Applicant's election with traverse of the election of species in the reply filed on 2/19/2008 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that there is no undue burden on the examiner to review all of the species. This is not found persuasive because 21 different species places an undue burden on the examiner. Claims 4-5 are not readable on Fig. 3 since they recite the device is in the shape of a funnel which Fig. 3 is clearly not. These claims appear to be drawn to Fig. 7.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3, 41, 42, 43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by DE 19531981 A1 for substantially the same reasons stated in the first Office Action.

Art Unit: 3643

The DE '1981 patent shows an insect trap having a catching part with an outlet opening and a container for storing caught pests connected to a device. DE '1981 shows a catching part 1 with an outlet opening 2, a container 6, and a device 5 for separating the captured pests from water and small debris. DE '1981 discloses a net attached to the top area of the funnel. In reference to claim 41, DE '1981 shows using a trap having a catching part, and a container for storing the captured insects with a device for separating the captured insects from water and small debris being placed along a path which caught insects move. The trap is hung with a bottom of the container for storing caught insects in a horizontal position.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 20 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over DE 19531981 A1.

The DE '1981 patent has been discussed above. In reference to claim 20, DE '1981 does not disclose making the mesh from hydrophobic material, but it would have been obvious to make the mesh from hydrophobic material so that water would not be attracted to it and directly pass by.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 2/19/2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's response overcomes the examiners objection to the drawings. Applicant argues that in DE '1981, the selective net is not capable of separating or excluding water and small debris from entering the container. DE '1981 discloses that the size of the mesh is changeable. DE '1981 does not disclose exactly how the trap works. However, insects can be trapped in the mesh above the container and then the trap can be taken apart and those insects can be dumped into the container after the water is drained/dumped out. This rational assumes that the target species is larger than the mesh size and that water an smaller insects will pass through the mesh and be stored in the container. The claims should recite more structure of the invention to overcome the art of record.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
